

Inspection Company Comparison

Change from a known commodity to something new can feel like a loss. And the thought of loss weighs on us way more than the thought of gain.

That being said, we know you don't want your clients to be the next 1-star review. There are many Realtors offering all these services to their clients. Since you are a top agent, we wanted you to know what is available to you and your clients.

The thought of anything new will always give us a thought of loss, the loss of a known commodity, a familiar face. It's no surprise that we as humans tend to prefer to keep things the same.

Can we encourage you to add us to your list? We encourage you to still recommend your current inspector/company for some of your clients where you think that is a good fit.
